LOCAL NEWS.

Miss Lola M. Charnley of Brooklyn, N.Y., is visiting friends in town.

The Jamison family have moved into their new house in West Parish.

Dr. Quint begins his series of lectures on "Congregationalism" at Bartlet Chapel this evening.

Rev. E. B. Haskell, recently acting pastor of the Baptist Church, will preach there next Sunday.

The flourishing qualities of Ayer's Hygienic Coffee are demonstrated each day at the Boston Fair Food Exhibition. Be particular to try a cup.

Mrs. Mary A. Colpitts has opened dressmaking rooms at the residence of John H. Thompson on East Chestnut Street.

Hon. Joseph M. Bradley was a member of the committee on permanent organization at the Democratic State convention in Boston Monday.

Adam Lindsay, who has been chorister at the Free Church, very pleasantly entertained the members of the choir at his home last Saturday evening.

The sale of the Allen estate in West Parish, opposite Benjamin Hoynton's, to Mrs. Henry B. Dyer of Lawrence is reported.

Last Sunday evening at the Baptist Church an interesting missionary concert was held, the program of which was carried out by the ladies of the church.

The vestry of Christ Church has decided to discontinue the services of its choir, which has been composed of a quartette.

Frank D. Luce of the last graduating class at the Seminary, is to be pastor's assistant at the Boylston Church, Jamaica Plain.

On Page 2 to-day will be found the rules relating to plumbing and house drainage, as adopted at the special town meeting. Everybody should read them.

The Andover Union Auxiliary of the Woman's Board of Foreign Missions will meet at the South Church vestry on Tuesday, Oct. 16, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

The Board of Registrars made four new voters at the meeting Monday night. There is another meeting to-night and also next Wednesday, from 7.00 to 9.00 P.M.

Mrs. Annie Sawyer Downs gave an instructive and interesting lecture on "Concord, Mass.," before the young ladies of Abbot Academy in the school hall last Saturday afternoon.

Rev. F. A. Wilson of the Free Church gave an address on "Preparation for Service" at a devotional meeting of the Lawrence C. E. Union in that city Monday evening.

Cards have been received announcing the marriage of Miss Mary Beach of Boston to Frank H. Johnson of this town, to take place at Trinity Chapel, New York, Wednesday, Oct. 24.

Andrew J. Abbott, who has been a well-known tin peddler here for a number of years, has settled up his business and moved to Concord, Mass., where he will continue in the same line of business.

At the annual meeting of the Ladies' Union Charitable Society, which has charge of the Lawrence Hospital, Mrs. Peter D. Smith of this town was re-elected one of the vice-presidents.

Miss Hannah M. Hill, sister of the late Geo. O. Hill, died in Lawrence last week. The funeral took place from the Baptist Church here Tuesday afternoon, and the remains were buried in the South Cemetery.

J. Gordon and D. F. Bruce of this town are to play with the Merrimack Cricket Club of Lawrence to-morrow afternoon against the Lowell. The game takes place on the Doyle Street grounds, Lawrence.

"The Origin of the First Three Gospels" was the subject of Prof. Ryder's fourth New Testament lecture at the Lawrence Street Church last evening. "The Origin of the Fourth Gospel" is the subject for next Thursday evening's lecture.

Frank Brown, son of the late Andrew Brown, for many years a resident of Eyre Village and an employee of the Smith & Dove Co., has been registered at the Mansions House this week, in company with his sister, Mrs. Alexander, and husband, Mr. Brown and brother Andrew are official sugar testers at the port of San Francisco.

Prof. Freeman of Phillips Academy gave a very entertaining and instructive talk on "Glaciers" before the Forum last Friday evening. Although the trip of ill-fated Miranda was somewhat a failure, still a great many things were learned especially about glaciers, and Mr. Freeman evidently watched them very closely.

Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes, whose death this week has filled the country with sorrow, prepared for college at Phillips Academy and was one of its oldest and most famous alumni.

Capt. John C. Crowninshield was present at the annual banquet and re-union of the Mexican War veterans of Massachusetts at the American House, Boston, Wednesday, and read a paper which dealt chiefly with the pension question.

The weather of the past week has not particularly reminded one of blueberry blossoms and wild violets, but pretty specimens of both have been brought to our attention this week. Grace Thayer, daughter of Samuel Thayer, picked some of both Tuesday, and Willie Foster has also picked blue and white violets.

The Park Club is to give a second dancing assembly in G. A. R. Hall Friday evening next, Oct. 19. Music will be furnished by the Andover Band Orchestra. The admission will be 50 cents for gentlemen and 25 for ladies. If this is as successful as the first, it will be one of the most enjoyable.

At a meeting of the Punched L. & S. Society, last Friday evening, the following board of editors for the Design was elected: editor-in-chief, Harry F. Holt; 1st assistant, Wm. J. Driscoll; 2d assistant, Walter Donald; 3d assistant, Susie Abbott; business manager, Henry Bodwell; class editors, senior Ida Farum, middle, Alice Whitney, junior middle, Horace Bodwell, junior Alice M. Bell.

A committee from the Free Church are preparing for a course of four entertainments, to be given this season at the church. It will consist of three lectures and a concert, and the price will be fifty cents, or fifteen cents for one evening. G. W. W. Dove will give one lecture on his trip to the Arctic regions the past summer, and Rev. Smith Baker will give another. The other entertainments have not been settled upon.

Mrs. C. A. Shattuck, the well known florist, makes an announcement in our advertising columns to-day which will be interesting to her patrons and others. Already the displays in the window of the store on Post Office Avenue, formerly occupied by Miss Howard, have been very attractive, and this opportunity for her patrons to get their orders filled right here in the centre of town will be greatly appreciated. Mrs. Shattuck has spent fourteen years in this work and feels confident of giving satisfaction.

How long will it take to walk from Elm Square to the City Hall in Lawrence? That is the question which Patrick Ford of Lawrence and Eugene McCarthy, a sash and blind maker of that city, discussed quite warmly Monday morning. Mr. Ford said it would take over an hour, while Mr. McCarthy was certain he could cover the distance in less time. A wager of $5 was made. Mr. McCarthy at once started out and did it in 55 minutes. Major Donovan and Capt. Joubert of Company F acting as referees. A number of Andover people saw a part of the performance and wondered what was up.

The democratic senatorial convention for this district on Wednesday morning nominated Thomas A. Brooks of Lawrence as the candidate to oppose Senator Gage. No delegates from Andover were present, and in fact less than half the number to which the convention was entitled were present. The reason probably was that they did not know of it. The Lawrence caucus were held on Tuesday night, and many of the delegates had not received their credentials. It seems to have been a "snafu" convention, and we notice that its legality is questioned and that efforts are being made to have another. Joseph M. Bradley was named as one of the district committee.

The Guardian of Charlottetown, Prince Edward's Island, published Wednesday, has the following: "Rev. Elias J. Sarkis leaves this morning by the St. Lawrence for Andover, Mass., to resume his studies at the Theological Seminary, where he will graduate next June. He came to Prince Edwards Island three months ago and has preached almost every Sabbath in various Presbyterian pulpits in Prince and Queen's Counties. His preaching has been characterized by earnestness of appeal, breadth of thought, and Christian sympathy. Mr. Sarkis expresses himself as well pleased with the island, its climate, appearance and people."

From a letter written by Rev. J. Gauderman, of Dimondale, Mich., we are permitted to make this extract: "I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as the results were almost marvelous in the case of my wife. While I was pastor of the Baptist Church at River Junction she was brought down with pneumonia, succeeding La Grippe. Terrible paroxysms of coughing would last hours with little interruption and it seemed as if she could not survive them. A friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery; it was quick in its work and highly satisfactory in results." Trial bottles free at Arthur Bliss' Drug Store. Regular size 50c. and $1.00.

The fall handicap tournament at Phillips Academy had to be postponed on account of the rain. The choir at St. Patrick's Church, So. Lawrence, will render a very fine program, both in the morning and afternoon, on Sunday, Oct. 14. Mr. Sherwood Eddy addressed inquiry at Phillips Academy Sunday evening, on the student volunteer movement, which is trying to interest college men in missionary work. Mr. Eddy has also addressed successful meetings at Abbot Academy and the Theological Seminary.

The Free Church vestry was well filled last Sunday evening with an audience gathered to hear Rev. D. W. Waldron speak on city missionary work in Boston, and tell about the benefits which many poor families derive from this and the Fresh Air Fund, which furnishes summer outings to many who absolutely need the change. Mr. Waldron, judging from his intensely interesting talk, must be just the man for his position, and his long service in this capacity in Boston would seem to justify us in forming such an opinion. The society of which he is at the head evidently is doing a grand work.

The kindergarten school in Abbott Village has proved so successful that it will be continued until Thanksgiving, several weeks longer than at first expected.

The new Grammar School building is practically completed and next Monday school will open there. The teachers of the grammar grades in the Town Hall have been given to-day for visiting, while the furniture, books, etc., are being moved to the new building. Miss Patnam, whose room is in the water-works building, will have Monday for a visiting day, and her scholars will go into the new building Tuesday.

The School Committee has decided to have some dedicatory exercises for the new building, to take place within two weeks, and an appropriate program will be arranged. Already Prof. Harris, Dr. Bancroft and George H. Poor, Esq., have consented to be present and speak. Particulars will be given in the next Townsmen.

The Park Club team plays the Wakefield High School Association eleven in that town to-morrow afternoon.

The Phillips Street eleven defeated the Park Club 4 to 1 last Saturday afternoon on the Phillips campus. It was a very closely fought game, and the result was a surprise to all, especially to the Park Club and its "rooters." It was expected that the Academy boys would win by a good score. But for a very doubtful decision, which in the second half gave Phillips Street 45 yards on a so-called foul tackle, the Park Club would have probably won the game. The town boys, however, should feel pleased with the showing in their first game.

The showing made by the Phillips team against Harvard Varsity at Cambridge last Saturday is considered much better than Exeter's. The score, 46 to 0, although only two smaller than that against Exeter, was the result of much harder work by Harvard. Andover's tackling was especially strong and long run by by the Harvard's backs were not nearly as frequent as in the Exeter game. Capt. Durand, Holt, LeBoutillier, and Lindenburg especially distinguished themselves in tackling. Andover could not gain much ground against the Harvard heavyweights, except by kicking.

To-morrow afternoon the Bridgewater Normal School team plays on the campus, and next Wednesday the strong Brown eleven will be here with the well-known Andover half-backs, Hopkins and Millard.

By-Law Relating to Plumbing and House Drainage.

Enacted by the town of Andover as follows:
SECT. 1. Before proceeding to construct or reconstruct any portion of the drainage system of any building, the owner, plumber, or person having charge of the same shall, except in the case of repair of leaks, file with the Board of Health plans and specifications of the whole drainage system, including branches, ventilating pipes, traps, etc., and in case of a privy vault, a description thereof, giving its position relative to the house and limits of the lot, its size, construction and ventilation; and no person shall commence any portion of such work until the description thereof shall have been approved by the Board of Health, and after such approval there shall be no alterations unless likewise approved. Blank specifications will be furnished to architects, plumbers and others on application at the office of the Board of Health.

SECT. 2. The inspector of plumbing shall be notified promptly in writing, when the plumbing work in any house is completed or sufficiently advanced for inspection. He shall proceed at once to pass upon the work, and all inspections shall be made promptly, not later than twenty-four hours after such notification. No part of the plumbing work of any house shall be covered, or in any manner hidden from view, until after such inspection has been made and certificate of approval issued by the Board of Health. The inspector of plumbing shall promptly condemn and order removal of defective material, or of any work done other than in accordance with the provisions of this by-law.

SECT. 3. Waste pipes from bath tubs, laundry tubs, kitchen and pantry sinks, and from urinals, shall not be less than one and one-half inches in diameter, and for slop hoppers not less than three inches in diameter.

SECT. 4. Every soil, drain, waste, or ventilating pipe above ground and inside or under the building shall be of metal. Soil pipes shall be of iron, sound, free from sand, and of a uniform thickness, and of not less than four inches in diameter, and waste pipes shall be of iron or lead. The portion of the main drain within the house walls and through and to four feet outside the cellar wall shall be of iron, securely ironed to walls or laid in trenches of uniform grade, or suspended to floor timbers by strong iron hangers, or as said board may direct, (the space between the hangers shall not exceed ten feet.) In all buildings (except stables) erected after the passage of this ordinance, where it is necessary to lay soil pipe under the ground, it shall be of the quality known as extra heavy iron pipe, and all fittings used in connection with such pipe must correspond with it in weight and quality, and shall pass through the walls two inches clear of the masonry on the top and both sides to avoid injury by settlement. The following weights per lineal foot will be accepted as standards:

Beyond this point it shall be of "extra heavy" iron pipe or vitrified earthen pipe of suitable size, with a fall of at least one-quarter inch to the foot.

SECT. 5. Joints in iron pipe shall be either screw, oakum-packed and lead-calked, or carefully and properly made rust-joints; and joints of lead pipe shall be, where practicable, and desirable, of wiped solder. Joints in cement or earthen pipe shall be made water tight by means of hydraulic cement mortar, and care must be taken that no mortar is left at the joint inside the pipe; and joints of lead with iron pipe shall be made with a brass sleeve or ferrule, joined with the lead pipes with a wiped solder joint, and calked with lead in the iron hub. No saddle hub will be allowed on any plumbing except by permission of the inspector of plumbing.

SECT. 6. Connections of branch wastes with the main drain, soil or other waste pipe shall be made so as to change the direction of the flow as smoothly as possible, and when cast fittings are used, connections shall be made by means of Y branches and I-8 bends.

SECT. 7. No water-closet shall be set up in any room or apartment that has not a window having an area of, at least, three square feet opening directly to the external air; they will, however, be permitted in rooms or apartments having no windows communicating directly with the external air, providing that there is a duct to the open air through a heated flue with an opening under or near the seat of the water-closet for taking air; and, in buildings erected after the passage of this Ordinance, such air-ducts shall enter the flue above all openings for stoves. All water-closets shall be furnished with a sufficient supply of water to keep them at all times clean and well flushed, and shall, unless otherwise permitted by the Board of Health, be supplied from a special tank, which shall hold not less than five gallons of water for each water-closet which it supplies. Water-closets on different floors are not permitted to be flushed from one tank. Water-closets must be exposed to view for ready inspection at all times, and in no case shall they be so covered with woodwork as to prevent washing the floors around the water-closet bowls or traps. Floor connections of earthen water-closets, with trap combined, shall be made with brass flanges wiped to lead bend or pipe.

SECT. 8. Each fixture shall have an effectual trap close to it—the distance not to exceed two feet—and which, if of a kind and in a position liable to be siphoned or affected by back pressure, shall be protected therefrom by a special air pipe, in no case less than two inches in diameter for water-closet traps, and one inch and a half for other traps. As exception, the use of a single trap may be permitted for one set of wash trays, or two adjoining fixtures consisting of wash bowls or bath tubs. In no case shall the waste pipe from a bath tub or other fixture be connected with a water-closet trap; nor shall traps be placed on or at the foot of vertical soil pipes. A running or one half S trap shall be placed on the house drain at an accessible point, either outside or inside the foundation wall of the building. This trap must be furnished with two hand holes, with brass screw caps made air tight. There shall be an inlet for fresh air entering the drain between two and three feet inside this trap, of at least four inches in diameter, leading to the outer air. Clean outs for inspection purposes, corresponding in size with the main drain, with covers to hand holes made gas and air tight, and of a pattern approved by the Board of Health, shall be provided at intervals of not more than twenty feet, and one such opening shall be required at each horizontal branch of fifteen feet; and on all pipes laid beneath the ground said clean-outs must project above the level of cellar floor, or if they do not project above the cellar floor, man-holes must be provided in order to give access to them.

SECT. 9. Waste pipes from safes and refrigerators and overflow tanks or cisterns shall empty over sink, trapped gully or otherwise, as may be approved, but shall not connect directly with the drainage system.

SECT. 10. Rainwater leaders shall not be used as soil, waste or vent pipes, nor shall any soil, waste or vent pipe be used as a leader. When within the house the rain-leader must be of cast iron with leaded joints; when outside of the house, and connected with the house drain or common sewer, it must be of copper beneath the ground or inside the wall, the trap being arranged in either case so as to prevent freezing. In every case where a leader opens near a window or light-shaft, it must be properly trapped at its base.

SECT. 11. Soil pipes shall be continued full bore up through the roof without turning bend, in as direct a line as possible, terminating at least two feet above any window or opening into the building. All branches of soil pipe, four inches or more in diameter, and twelve feet or more in length, shall be continued at full size through the roof, or be taken into the soil-pipe above the highest plumbing fixture, unless otherwise permitted. All branch lines of waste pipes less than four inches in diameter and fifteen feet or more in length must be carried up through the roof at least two feet, and remote from windows or other openings into the building, or taken into soil-pipes above highest fixture, unless otherwise permitted. All pipes must be at least four inches in diameter when they pass through the roof. Ventilation pipes shall be of not less than two inches in diameter for distances of thirty feet or less, and of not less than three inches for distances of more than thirty feet. When two or more fixtures, such as sinks, bowls, or bath tubs are used on one line, the waste-pipe must be not less than two inches in diameter.

SECT. 12. Soil, drain, waste and ventilation pipes shall be concentrated as much as possible, and on the completion of the work shall be left readily accessible, and in view as much as possible. Drain, soil, waste and ventilation pipes, and the traps shall be exposed to view for ready inspection at all times, and for convenience in repairing. When necessarily placed within partitions or recesses in walls, soil and waste-pipes shall be covered with wood work so fastened with screws as to be readily removed. In no case shall they be absolutely inaccessible. Any house-drain put in and covered over without due notice to the Board of Health, must be uncovered for inspection at the direction of its agent or inspector.

SECT. 13. The whole drainage and plumbing work of buildings shall be executed by skilled mechanics in a thorough and workmanlike manner.

SECT. 14. No privy shall open directly from any living or food-storage room.

SECT. 15. No brick, sheet-metal or earthenware flue shall be used inside of any building to ventilate any privy-vault, cesspool trap, drain, waste or soil-pipe, and chimney flues shall not be used as such ventilators.

SECT. 16. Cesspools shall be built in a thorough and substantial manner and shall be properly ventilated. Should the cesspool be located within twenty feet from the foundation wall of the cellar, or fifty feet from a well or other source of water supply which is used for culinary purposes, it shall be made absolutely water tight.

SECT. 17. No opening shall be made in the sewer pipe of any building for the purpose of receiving the surface drainage of the cellar, unless special permission is granted by the Board of Health, and any opening so made shall be immediately and permanently closed when directed by the Board of Health. Cellar and foundation walls must, when possible, be rendered impervious to dampness, and the use of asphaltum or coal tar pitch in addition to hydraulic cement is recommended for that purpose.

SECT. 18. No steam exhaust or blow-off shall connect with any public or private sewer, or with any soil or waste pipe, or with any house drain that connects with a public or private sewer; such pipes shall discharge into a suitable tank or condenser from which an outlet to the house drain may be provided.

SECT. 19. Subsoil drains shall be provided whenever dampness of site of any building is known to exist. When used they must be effectually trapped and means provided to maintain a seal.

SECT. 20. All drains now built shall be reconstructed whenever, in the opinion of the Board of Health, it may be necessary.

SECT. 21. The provisions of sections 1 to 20, inclusive, of this by-law shall apply only to buildings erected, and to work performed after its passage.

SECT. 22. All persons who shall violate any of the provisions of the above by-law shall forfeit a sum not exceeding fifty dollars for each offense.

AUTOCRAT HOLMES

Succumbs to an Attack of Heart Failure at His Home.

A Long and Honored Career Nobly Lived
Out by the Great Poet and Philosopher.
Died as if in Sleep.

Boston, Oct. 9.—Oliver Wendell Holmes is dead. Without the semblance of a struggle or a pain he passed away as he has lived, peacefully and beautifully. The end came at 12:15 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the venerable poet's town house, 206 Beacon street. He was surrounded by his children and visibly conscious of their presence up to within a few minutes of the last, though unable to speak.

Then he closed his eyes wearily and seemed to fall asleep, as indeed he did—the sleep of death, at which the whole world will mourn.

O. W. HOLMES.

Dr. Holmes came from his summer home at Beverly 10 days ago, and while not quite in his accustomed health at that time, did not regard himself sick, nor was he regarded by his children and friends. For several years he had been a sufferer from asthma, and the day after his return to Boston from Beverly he had a particularly severe attack of this malady.

It was the beginning of the end. Dr. Holmes never left his bed again, for while the asthma was conquered, it left him in such a weakened condition that he never rallied.

Gradually and calmly he approached the dark river. Grandly and peacefully he waited for the end, knowing full well that it was near, for Dr. Putnam told the sufferer a week ago that it must come.

Never robust, Dr. Holmes lived to the great age that he did only through having taken the best of care of himself at all times. Dr. Putnam knew that when the final sickness did come it would not be a long one.

Last night the serenity and peace that always characterized Dr. Holmes' life were found. The house in which he lay died, but none of the family was to be seen.

Save for the faintest sweet odor of flowers which pervaded the place, there was nothing to suggest a house of mourning.

Of a Noble Family.

The family was truly noble. It was also old, as age goes in New England. John Holmes settled in Woodstock, Conn., in 1686. His grandson, David, served as a captain of the British troops in the French war and surgeon in the patriot army of the revolution. His son Abel, who was born in 1793 and died in 1867, was graduated from Yale in 1783, studied theology and became noted both as a preacher and a writer. His second wife was a daughter of Oliver Wendell, and of her five children the third was the renowned, genialist and "Autocrat of the Breakfast Table."

In 1839 he was chosen professor of anatomy and physiology at Dartmouth, and in 1840 married Amelia Lee, daughter of Judge Charles Jackson of the supreme court of Massachusetts. A son of this marriage, Oliver Wendell, Jr., born March 8, 1841, made a very honorable record in the war for the Union, and has attained high rank as a jurist. In 1889 he was made a member of the supreme court of Massachusetts, having previously practiced various law works.

Laid at Rest.

Boston, Oct. 10.—In King's chapel, at noon today, funeral services were held over the remains of Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes. Rev. Skifford Brooks of the First Unitarian church officiated. Cousins of Dr. Holmes were the pallbearers. The burial was in the family lot at Mt. Auburn.

Is Going Away.

Boston, Oct. 11.—Henry L. Pierce has resigned the presidency of the New England Tariff Reform League. In his letter of resignation he says: "I have held the office of president of the league for many years and regret much to sever my connection with the earnest men who have worked with me to promote the purposes of the organization, but I am intending to be away some months and think that I should be relieved from all responsibility in the conduct of its work."

A Bad Man.

Portland, Me., Oct. 10.—Two years ago a man known as "Chucky" Peasey assaulted and nearly killed a barber named Jim Cady, and shortly afterward injured Officer Sylvester. He was wanted on about a dozen charges, and was captured yesterday afternoon only after a hard fight.

Missing From Auburn.

Auburn, Me., Oct. 10.—Charles O. Littlefield of this city mysteriously disappeared on Sunday last, and has not been seen or heard from since. He had considerable money. Suicide is feared, though some hint foul play.

Tyler Downed by Johnson.

Waltham, Mass., Oct. 9.—Johnson defeated Tyler in the one-mile invitation race here yesterday in the slow time of 2:17 2-5. Harley Davidson, champion of Canada, won the mile open race in 2:11.

Signs of Prosperity.

Fitchburg, Mass., Oct. 9.—The Fitchburg Worsted mill started on full time yesterday, giving work to 300 operatives. The duck mills also resumed after a four weeks' shutdown.

A Little One's Bad End.

Biddeford, Me., Oct. 9.—Charence McGarrity, aged 6 years, died from effects of drinking half a pint of whisky, which he secured from an unlicensed unknown to his parents.

A Big Cut.

Providence, Oct. 11.—Stockholders of the Third National bank voted to reduce the capital stock from $500,000 to $300,000. The reduction is due to doubtful assets.

MASSACHUSETTS MILITIA

Practice Scientific Warfare in the Streets of Boston—Six Thousand Men in Line.
Boston, Oct. 10.—The Massachusetts volunteer militia in its entirety was exhibited to the public yesterday. The troops, in their simple service uniforms, leather leggings and campaign hats, presented a ready-for-business appearance quite in contrast with the brilliancy of color, gaudy plumage and weighty display of polished brass and glittering gold lace of ante-bellum times.

From Essex to Berkshire, from Middlesex to Cape Cod, the state forces responded with military promptness, and took their stations at Somerville, Cambridge and at various points in Boston proper.

Martial music and rattling arms disturbed the morning air, while galloping steeds and the tramp of the citizen soldiers gave a warlike appearance to the peaceful surroundings.

Old Firm Assigns.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 9.—The University Press, John Wilson & Sons, made an assignment yesterday, for the benefit of the creditors, to William B. Held, chief clerk on the Press. The assignment will be received with surprise, as the firm's financial standing was believed to be sound. Next to the Riverside Press, the University Press is the oldest and largest printing establishment in Cambridge. The concern was established in 1839, and with only a lapse of about one year has been running ever since. The firm employs from 800 to 900 hands.

Believed to Be a Bath Vessel.

WELLESLEY, Mass., Oct. 9.—The schooner which sank off here Sunday is believed to be the Herald of the Morning, of Bath, Me. The Herald sailed from Erie Basin, N. Y., Oct. 4, in company with a fleet of vessels. All, except the Herald of the Morning, have arrived at their destination. The vessel was built in Bath in 1860 and was of 180 tons register.

A Weak Case.

BANGOR, Me., Oct. 9.—In the preliminary hearing in the case of the state against Gilbert McPherson, the supposed incendiary, and half-dozen witnesses were examined. The only result was the making out of a very weak case for the state, and it looks doubtful for the further continuance of proceedings.

Will Start Up Next Monday.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Oct. 11.—The Manufacturers' association yesterday afternoon voted to start up the mills next Monday morning. This action was taken in accordance with the suggestion of Mayor Coughlin.

The End of It.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Oct. 10.—The spinners last night voted to accept the report of the conference committee and go to work tomorrow morning. The weavers also will undoubtedly vote to go to work.

Held For Assail.

BANGOR, Me., Oct. 10.—The hearing in the case of Gilbert McPherson, charged with arson on Oct. 2, was concluded yesterday. Judge Yose bound the prisoner over to the grand jury.

Boston Produce Markets.

PORK.—The pork and lard markets are quiet. Quotations are revised: Long cut, short cut and backs, 17 1/2; ribs, 16 1/2; lean ends, 18; prime, 14 1/2; pork tongue, 19 1/2; loose salt pork, 10; bristles, 10; fresh ribs, 10; sausage, 8; sausage meat, 8; Bologna, 8; hams, 10; boneless hams, 10; small hams, 10; skin-back hams, 10; smoked shoulders, 10; corned, 10; smoked, 10; boneless bacon, 10; pressed ham, 10; choice lard, 10 1/2; in tubs and tubs, 10 1/2; S. Trolleys and Road Improvement.

There is not only good sense but a note as warning in the following editorial in the current Harper's Weekly.
The tendency is very evident these days among street railway corporations to extend their business to include not only passenger traffic, but freight business in their service, and with this extension there is sure to come a greater use than ever of the highways by trolley cars. The following is well worth reading:

For several years past there has been a zealous agitation in favor of the improvement of country roads. As pointed out from time to time in this paper,
this agitation, this movement, is now resulting in a practical betterment of the highways in many localities, and a general discussion of ways and means to such ends in almost every enlightened neighborhood in the country.

But the road-improvers and makers
of road laws need to be on their guard, for it has been demonstrated time and again in the near neighborhood of large cities that so soon as country roads in populous neighborhoods or between prosperous villages have been graded and paved, the builders of trolley railroads pounce upon them and divert them almost completely from the purpose for which they were intended.
The extension of trolley lines into the country should be encouraged in all proper ways, but the public authorities,
the law-makers, and the people should insist that these trolleys should be located in proper places. Such proper places are not upon paved road-beds,
nor yet on the spaces between the pavements and the ditches.

The pavement of a macadamized roadway is meant to drive on; it is injured very seriously by having a horse-car track on it; for driving purposes it is ruined as completely as though an ordinary railroad track were placed over the pavement. Nor should the spaces between the pavement and the ditches be used for railway tracks, for these spaces are admirable driving roads more than half the time, and the rest of the time are needed for drainage purposes in taking the rainfall from the pavement to the ditches. A railway track of any kind would interrupt this drainage, which is of the greatest possible importance, as the macadam pavement is, after all, as much in the nature of a roof as anything else. The inventor of this system of road-building maintained that if a road-bed were made dry by drainage,
and kept dry by an impervious covering, it would carry any load that could be placed upon it. And the experience of four generations have proved that Macadam was right in his theory. But if we break this roof for a railway track, or if we interrupt the surface flow of water by a railway track on the side,
then the whole purpose of the road
construction has been defeated.

It is desirable, however, that trolley lines should be located near to the roads, for then they are easily accessible. The natural place for them is on the road-side beyond the ditches. This location involves the expense of grading for the railway road-bed, and hence,
the builders of trolleys endeavor to secure permission to put their lines on the road-bed, where everything has been prepared in advance. This is as wrong as it can be, for such locations
not only ruin the roadway, but make it dangerous to life. There should be incorporated in every road law that no permission should be given to place a railroad on the roadway without referring the question to the popular vote of the township, and requiring that the railroad should then pay a rental of not less than ten per cent per annum on the first cost of the roadway. Such a provision of the law would compel trolley roads to seek and find other locations for their lines, and would leave the common roads for the uninterrupted use for which they were intended.

When the railroad came into existence, two generations ago, the effort to secure good common roads in America was abandoned, because it was fancied that with the development of the railroad the common road would not be needed. But experience has shown that the greater the travel on the railroads, the greater the travel on the common roads, and hence that the latter are really a greater necessity than ever. And we will learn the same lesson from the extension of the trolley system, for travel begets travel. How unwise it will be, therefore, just as we are on the eve of securing for ourselves and our children a good system of country highways, to give them over to these private corporations for a use quite foreign to that for which we improved them!

Editorial Clinders.

An evening school should be an excellent thing for many of our young men and women who have been obliged to cut short their education. We hope to see Mr. Wilson's call answered by a goodly number.

And how the plumbing regulations
are promulgated, what a suffering state
this is with its multiplicity of regulations! Building, plumbing, lighting, and did you know it, we even have regulations about riding bicycles on the sidewalks, at least the rest of Massachusetts does.

The 500 mark is passed at Phillips, and it is no longer so many hundred in talking about our big school, but rather "a half a thousand." And it evidently won't be long ere we drop the half and say "about a thousand." All Andover shares in the pride felt in such a great institution.

It is a splendid building that Committeemen Alden, Pettie, and Bradley will turn over to the Grammar School scholars next week. Everything has been favorable and the result is most gratifying to the entire community.

Work was begun on the Main Street bridge again this morning, and as we go to press was still proceeding. However, a messenger on flying steed or iron steed or some other steed is expected any minute bearing an injunction or something else so as to stop it again as soon as possible. Why will the street railway officials begin such a job on Friday?

Meeting of the Andover Conference.

The semi-annual meeting of the Andover conference, at the First Congregational Church in Methuen, Tuesday forenoon and afternoon, had a large attendance and Andover Churches were well represented in the gathering by pastors, delegates, and others. The conference organized at 9.30 A.M., C. U. Bell of Lawrence being moderator. After prayer by Rev. Dr. Greene of Lowell and the reading of the secretary's report, a business committee was appointed, consisting of Rev. G. S. Johnson, Lowell, Jacob Emerson, Methuen, and Rev. F. A. Wilson of this town.

The "Best Methods of Bible Study"
was the subject of an able address by Rev. Erasmus Blakelee, and the question was interestingly discussed by several members of the conference. The other address of the morning was on "Church Building Society," by Rev. L. H. Cobb,
D.D. A devotional service by Rev. W.
E. Wolcott of Lawrence closed the morning session, after which a generous lunch was provided for the visitors by the ladies of the church.

The afternoon session began with reports of committees. A resolution was reported by the business committee to the effect that the Andover conference of Oct. 9 approve of the Congregational board of pastoral supply for the present year, and despatch offerings to the treasurer, W. R. Bigelow of Salem. Prof.
Taylor spoke in favor of the resolution,
and it afterwards passed unanimously.
It was decided to hold the April conference at the John Street Church, Lowell.
The following missionary committee was appointed: Rev. Wm. E. Wolcott and C.
U. Bell of Lawrence, Rev. F. W. Greene
of Andover and S. G. Sargent of Methuen, Rev. C. W. Huntington and J. G. But-trick of Lowell. A. K. Whitcomb of Lowell was appointed committee of arrangements for next meeting.

The discussion on The Relation of the Y.P.S.C.E. to the church was interesting and was opened by William Shaw of Bal-lardvale, treasurer of the United Society.
Many of the pastors and laymen also spoke on this question, among them being
Rev. F. W. Greene, Rev. F. R. Shipman, and Otis Chickering of this town. A missionary address by William G. Pudde-foot on Home Missions contained many interesting facts, and at the close of the conference a collection was taken for the benefit of the Home Missionary Society.

Complimentary to Andover.

The Danvers Mirror in speaking of the recent meeting of the Essex County
Schoolmasters' Club here says:

Mine host Hitchcock of the historic Stowe mansion provided a banquet which was fully satisfactory to the most fastidious taste. For a drive about town after dinner the fine tallyho coach which had been secured was not sufficient, and two smaller carriages were obtained for the overflow. Andover is a beautiful town, full of interesting places, and the drive was thoroughly enjoyed. Lack of time prevented an inspection of some of the buildings belonging to the several educational institutions located there.
The public school buildings attracted much attention. A new grammar schoolhouse, which does credit to the liberality of the town, is just being finished. It is a fine looking, substantial brick building,
and will be thoroughly equipped for the work of the school.

Lecture Course at Abbot Academy.

Arrangements have been made for a course of illustrated lectures on Rome
by Rev. Henry G. Spaulding of Newton.
Mr. Spaulding's lectures have been given at Dartmouth, Vassar, Smith, Lawrenceville, St. Paul's in Concord, Miss Porter's School, Ogontz, Lasell and in many other prominent educational institutions, and are spoken of in terms of highest praise. The dates and subjects of the lectures to be given at Abbot Academy
are as follows:

Oct. 19. "Pagani Rome; The City of the Caesars."

Oct. 20. "Ancient Roman Amusements."

Nov. 9. "Roman Life and Art in Ancient Pompeii."

These will all be copiously illustrated with stereopticon views. The price of tickets for the course, which includes a gratuitous afternoon lecture on Browning, will be one dollar. Tickets may be procured at the Andover Bookstore.

Meeting of the Congregational Club.

The regular meeting of the Merrimack Valley Congregational Club will be held at the First Congregational Church, Lowell, next Wednesday evening. It will be "Ladies' Night," and a social hour will be from 5 to 6 o'clock and supper at 6.
After the business items, addresses will be given by Rev. Edward C. Moore, D.D., of Providence on "Oxford University" and "Mansfield College," and by Rev. A. A.
Berle, D.D., of Boston, on "Some Fallacies of the New Sociological Movement." Music will be furnished by a quartette. Train leaves Andover at 4.24, and returning leaves Lowell at 9.30 P.M.

An Evening School.

Any persons not attending day school who would be interested in having evening classes established in town are invited to send their names to Rev. F. A.
Wilson before Tuesday next. It is hoped that classes may be provided in arithmetic, book-keeping, physical geography and history, to be held in the rooms of the Pynchard School. A small fee of 20 cents per week will be charged for attendance, to partially defray the necessary expenses. Those sending in their names are further requested to specify
what courses they would prefer to follow. If the responses are sufficient to warrant going ahead in the matter, further particulars will be given in the next number of the TOWNSMAN.

Annual Meeting and Social.

The Ladies' Charitable Society of the Free Church held its annual meeting yesterday afternoon in the vestry and elected the following officers for the coming year:
President, Mrs. Joseph W. Smith; vice-president, Mrs. Walter B. Allen; secretary, Mrs. Charles W. Clark; treasurer,
Miss Agnes Smith; directresses, Mrs.
William Counts, Mrs. Alex. Kydd, Mrs.
Henry Goff, Mrs. Henry Russell, Mrs.
David Lindsay and Mrs. Alex. Dick; collectors, Misses Martha Goff and Clara Baldwin. In the evening tea was served and a social time enjoyed. These socials are held once a month during the winter and at each of the following some special entertainment will be provided.

Some More Big Apples.

Verily this is an apple year! We spoke a few weeks ago of one very big specimen of a greening that had been brought to our notice, and since then big apples
have begun to surround us on all sides.
While neighbor McLawlin has some rare specimens, we can match them with a number of others we have seen and beat them very badly with a few others. E.
Kendall Jenkins tops the heap on Baldwin's, with a very large one; Col. Ripley on a Hubbardston, with a bouncer, and our well known shoe-man, Mr. Sears, heads them all with a specimen, the kind
not known, that weighs 18 1/4 oz., and measures 14 in. around it. Up at Mr. Sears' house they use one apple to a pie, and deep plates at that.

Where else would you go for Cloaks,
Suits and Furs but to a Cloak Store?
Would you go to a boot and shoe store
for cotton cloth? When you want a cloak, a suit, or a fur garment of any kind, and want the best for the least money, go to headquarters, the Paris Cloak and Suit Store, Central Building, Lawrence, where you will find the largest line, and at prices
to suit every purse.

Weddings.

CLARK-ELLIOT.

Charles Clark, of last summer's graduating class at the Seminary and now a resident here, was married Tuesday to Miss Elizabeth J. Elliott of Ashby. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Rufus Tobey, assistant pastor of Berkeley Temple, Boston. Mr. Clark's home is in Hubbardston, Mass.

CHAPMAN-THOMPSON.

Last Saturday Sydney S. Chapman and Miss Lilla May Thompson, both young people of this town, were united in marriage by Rev. H. R. Wilbur, High Street.

TEICH-HANNON.

A large number of relatives and friends gathered in St. Augustine's Church at 6 o'clock Wednesday evening to witness the marriage of Miss Sara J. Hannon of Florence Street and Mr. Antoine Teich of Meriden, Conn., formerly of Ballard-vale. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Fr. Field. P. J. Hannon, brother of the bride, carried out the duties of best man, while the bride's only attendant was Miss Josie Higgins daughter of Joseph W. Higgins. After the marriage service there was a reception at the home of the bride, when Mr. and Mrs. Teich received the hearty congratulations of friends. After a short wedding trip they will reside in Meriden, Conn. They were the recipients of many handsome and useful wedding gifts.

Servant Girl Causes Trouble.

Troubles with servant girls seem to multiply instead of grow less. A newly hired colored girl was the cause of an unpleasant episode at William H. Jowett's last Saturday night. She had worked a few days, giving her name as Bertha Brown. Saturday afternoon she went out and was expected to return early in the evening, but did not come in until late. About 1 A.M. she aroused Mr.
Jowett, saying that some one was trying to get in the window. Mr. Jowett discovered no one and retired, but a little later saw a light and also heard footsteps. He got up again and this time found a man in the house. When asked what he wanted he said he was seeking his wife, claiming that the servant girl was such. She denied this, and the man, whose name was given as William Harris, was compelled to return to Lawrence without her.

The girl claimed to be single, but to rid themselves of any further trouble
Mrs. Jowett discharged her.

ABBOTT VILLAGE.

The Andover Cricket Club will hold an important meeting next Monday evening in Abbott Village Hall, and a large attendance is desired.

Being the umpire of the game between Lord Hawke's eleven and the all-Massachusetts team, it devolved upon D. F.
Bruce to make the remarks accompanying the presentation of an excellent photograph of the English team to Lord Hawke.

FRYE VILLAGE.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Maddox of Trenton, N. J., have been guests at the home of David Middleton this week.

Miss Emma Thompson left town Wednesday to visit Mrs. J. Bagley in New York City.

Births.

In Andover, Oct. 2, a daughter to Mr. and Mrs.
Michael Shea.

Marriages.

In Andover, Oct. 6, by Rev. H. R. Wilbur, Sydney S. Chapman and Lilla May Thompson.

In Boston, Oct. 8, by Rev. Rufus T. Tobey, Charles Clark of Andover and Elizabeth J. Elliott of Ashby.

In Lawrence, Oct. 8, by Rev. George C. Miller, Rudolph Wagner of Wallingford, Conn., and Emma Zaig of Andover.

In Andover, Oct. 10, by Rev. Fr. Field, Antoine Teich and Sara J. Hannon.

Progress Follows Push.

The enterprising owner of the Bargain
Emporium has found it necessary to enlarge this well-known store.
A balcony has been constructed at the back part of the store, giving a floor space of 20x35 feet which is devoted to a salesroom for ladies' wrappers, children's cloaks, lace curtains, and ladies' and children's cotton underwear.

This week is a particularly busy one at this favorite store as the bankrupt stock of D. Vincent is being sold at about half price. Ladies, make this your opportunity for laying in a supply of needed dry and fancy goods. You'll never buy them again at such low prices.

The Republican Club Dinner.

The fourth annual dinner of the Republican Club of Massachusetts will be held at Music Hall, Boston, on Wednesday, evening, Oct. 24, 1894. Distinguished speakers will be present and address the meeting. Every effort is being made by the committees to make this dinner as successful as those heretofore held by the club. The plan so successfully carried out at the former dinners of the club will be repeated, as follows: 5.15 P.M., Exchange of dinner tickets for reserved seats at the dinner tables; 6.00 P.M., Dinner in Music Hall; 7 P.M., Speaking in Music Hall.

The method of changing the dinner tickets is for the purpose of allowing those who desire to do so to sit together at the tables, which would be practically impossible were the reserved seats issued from time to time, as ordered. Dinner tickets will be $2.00 each, and with each dinner ticket will be given, free, two tickets to the balconies for friends of the members. The main floor and the platform will be for the exclusive use of those joining in the dinner. It is very important that those who purpose to attend the dinner should make immediate application for tickets to Excursion to the Worlds Fair.

In a few days an excursion will be given at greatly reduced rates to the reproduction of the World's Fair, which is now being given at the Casino Building, 541 Tremont Street, Boston. It is a very novel and interesting sight. The exhibition is given with the great scenograph, direct from New York. It is the work of E. J. Austen, the great English cyclorama painter. This mammoth electrical display, in which the spectator views all the wonderful buildings and beauties of the World's Fair in one great scenic form is undoubtedly one of the great events in artistic reproduction. To the many who were unable to visit Chicago last year, as well as to those who were there, it will prove a source of intense pleasure. The exhibition is open from 10 A.M. to 10 P.M., and electrical effects will be given every hour. West End cars run direct from the Union Depot to the Casino building.

Suicide and Drowning at Lawrence.

Early yesterday morning Charles Ammon, a weaver in Phillips & Knudsen's Mill, committed suicide in a field off Prospect Street by shooting himself in the head. Despondency was the cause. He was 30 years old and leaves a widow and child.

This morning at 12.30 o'clock, almost opposite the pumping station, Martin Steinfeld was drowned in the Merrimack River. He was in a canoe with Edward Peabody. The canoe was overturned and Steinfeld, who could not swim, sank beneath the water and was not seen again. Peabody managed to get ashore. He was 21 years old.

Great Scott!

"What will happen next!" is the exclamatory style in which Bicknell Bros. start off with the announcement of their latest bargain sale. This house has a reputation which is too valuable to be trifled with by false statements; consequently, bargain seekers can rest assured that when they offer a $12 suit for $6 it means something.

BALLARD VALE.

Miss Maud Hodgdon left town to-day to visit friends in Rockport, Me.

Mr. Fred Tibbets of Hyde Park was in town Thursday of this week.

The Rev. Mr. Hodgdon and wife are spending the week with friends in Penobscot, Me.

Miss Ida Huse and Miss Ethel Doyle of Lowell spent Sunday at Mr. Charles Billington's.

Mr. Edward Hayward returned home Monday from a two years' whaling voyage in the Pacific Ocean, doubling Cape Horn on the return trip.

In the absence of the Rev. Mr. Hodgdon, Mr. Arthur M. Shattuck will supply the pulpit at the Methodist Church in Wilmington Sunday.

The Y.L.P.U. foot-ball team will contest points with the Lawrence High School eleven to-morrow afternoon, game to commence at 3 o'clock on the Y.L.P.U. grounds, East Vale.

Several from here attended the meeting of the Andover conference Tuesday. Mr. William Shaw opened the discussion of the afternoon session, the topic being, "The Relation of the Y.P.S.E. to the Church."

There will be a harvest supper and social entertainment at the Union Congregational Church Wednesday evening, October 17, at 8.45 o'clock, to which all are cordially invited. Admission, adults 15 cents, children 10 cents.

Mr. Rudolph Wagner, formerly employed in the designing room of the Craighead & Kints Co., and now of Wallingford, Conn., was married in Lawrence last Monday to Miss Emma Zang of Andover. Mr. and Mrs. Wagner will reside in Wallingford.

MRS. C. A. SHATTUCK

Begs to announce to the residents of Andover and vicinity that she has leased the store on Post Office Avenue, formerly occupied by the Misses Howard, where she will keep a fine line of Cut Flowers and Floral Requisites. Fourteen years of hard labor in the greenhouse has given Mrs. Shattuck a practical knowledge of the requirements of plant life as found in border and window garden. The public are cordially invited to call and examine her stock and prices. Funeral designs of every description, and all orders for cut flowers and plants will receive careful attention.

The Railroad Man, The Clergyman, The Business Man,

and all other men who have to look neat while at work, should know about "CELLULOID" COLLARS AND CUFFS. They look exactly like linen, wear well and being waterproof do not wilt down with heat and moisture. They do not soil easily and can be cleaned in a moment by simply wiping off with a wet sponge or cloth. Do not confuse these in your mind with composition goods. Every piece of the genuine is stamped like this:

Ask for these and refuse anything else if you wish satisfaction. Remember that goods so marked are the only waterproof goods made by coating a linen collar with waterproof "Celluloid," thus giving strength and durability. If your dealer should not have the "Celluloid" send amount direct to us and we will mail you sample post-paid. Collars 25c. each. Cuffs, 50c. pair. State size and whether stand-up or turned-down collar is wanted.

TRY THE ROLLER PROCESS MEAL.

Success depends on keeping pace with the times, and among the many great improvements of the day comes the roller process for grinding grain of all kinds and especially corn. And I desire to call attention to some of the many advantages this process has over the old stone mill. It does not heat the grain by grinding, thereby it retains all of its sweetness, and will keep sweet much longer than that ground with the stone mill.

It makes the meal more uniform; it is perfectly ground, but no part of it is crushed or powdered so fine that it will settle as solid as lead, as is the case with stone ground meal. This makes it very much easier of digestion and far better results are obtained from its use as a feed for stock, either to increase fat or the milk flow, than can be had from the use of the old stone meal.

A hundred pounds of fine ground roller meal will fill a bag eight inches higher than the same weight of stone meal. A barrel of corn on the ear ground with the rolls, fills a barrel six to eight inches higher than will the stone ground meal.

The great advantage of this is that the grain lies just as much lighter in the stomach of the animal to which it is fed as it does in the bag or barrel.

The advantage of the roller over the stone mill in grinding corn on the cob is Immense, No Heating or Sweating, the meal comes from the mill cool and sweet.

If the corn is not thoroughly dry the roll will make good meal of it, which cannot be done with the stone mill.

Roller Cob Meal Does not Require to be Spread and Dried to Keep it from Souring.

It will keep sweet in the barrel until used, if this is done in a reasonable time.

You cannot get as much or as good milk from cows fed on sour and un-sound as from fresh, sweet sound meal; then

Why not have the Best when the Cost is the Same?

A trial is the most convincing evidence we can offer of the truth of these statements, and we invite farmers and others using corn meal to make the trial and judge for themselves.

To those who have corn ground on the ear, I will say that I am certain after you have seen the cob meal made with rolls, you will give up the use of the stone mill forever.

Our mill and office is No. 19 Morton Street, next north of engine-house, No. 4. We keep a full line of grain and poultry supplies, flour, hay, straw, fertilizers, etc. We feel confident we can please you in the price and quality if you will

Dress Goods Dept.

We feel somewhat elated over the success attending this department; we know there are ladies in Lawrence who have not been in the habit of purchasing Dress Goods at our store. Why? Assortments did not suit; this is all changed now and we are showing to-day as fine and a better assorted stock than can be found outside of Boston. We want your trade in this department and at the price, and the assortment now kept by us we shall have it in a short time; we respectfully ask your inspection of the following specials, now on our counters.

Covert Cloths.

Is one of the leading materials we have there in all prices and combinations; every merchant has this quality we have but what about the price? Ours is 42 1-2c but we do not recommend this grade; we do however our 69c. quality, full 40 inches wide and in a beautiful assortment of colorings. Perhaps you may want a still better grade. If so, look at our $1.25 quality. It would not surprise us if $1.75 was the price at other stores.

NOVELTY DRESS GOODS.

An assortment at 89c is without question the wonder of everybody; we ask you to remember that our motto is quick sales, small profits. Our line of 60c Plain and Fancy Serges, Mixtures and Novelties, is beyond comparison; we can show you over 100 different patterns to select from; $1.00 per yard is the popular price for Fine Imported Novelties; we have 50 patterns at 75c per yard that other stores ask $1.00 for.

BLACK DRESS GOODS.

Ladies, your wardrobe is not complete without a Black Dress. What is more serviceable for church or street wear than a handsome India Twill or the new weave made by the celebrated Priestly, Eudora. The price is nominal, $1.00 and $1.42 per yard.

NOVELTY BLK. DRESS GOODS.

We shall place on our counter to-morrow morning the most wonderful Bargains in Fancy Black Dress Goods, our own importation and have marked this lot at a price that every Lady in Lawrence can feel she must have a Dress from this lot. The price has never been lower than $1.00 and $1.25 our price 75c and $1.00 per yard. 35 Patterns to select from. We shall also put on sale to-morrow the best $1.00 quality Black Silk Warp Henrietta and for a special inducement our price will be 89c per yard, while this lot lasts only.

FOR LITTLE FOLKS.A WONDERFUL MEMORY.

A Little Girl Who Never Forgets Anything She Sees or Hears.

One little girl in San Francisco has no trouble to remember her lessons, and she has tremendously long lessons and hard lessons, too, for a little girl—huge numbers way up in the millions and queer names with lots of syllables and just awful to pronounce. Yet she does not have to study at all, and in the daytime she goes to the park or to Oakland or plays with dolls or with other children.

This little girl, who remembers what is told her only once, is helping to support her father and mother, who are very poor, and yet she is only 4 years and 3 months old. These poor parents are farming people, living in the little town of Mount Vernon, Ill. Of course when little Gertie Cochran was born her mother and father were sure that she was the brightest and prettiest baby that had ever come to the home of fond parents, but when the little one began at 7 months old to slip words and sentences they were enthusiastic, for who ever before heard of a baby beginning to speak when only 7 months old? When the child was a year old, her mother noticed that she repeated words and sentences that were said in her hearing and could remember for days and weeks and months the things that she had heard.

As little Gertie Cochran grew older her speech became plainer; her memory also gained. She could repeat long sentences and big numbers. Her mother found that the child could store away anything she heard and repeat it when asked, though the words she repeated could not possibly convey any impression to her intellect.

The mother saw in this unusual gift a way to add to the scanty income of the family, and last year she took her to the county fair in the neighborhood of her residence and also to the town in the vicinity and had her stand among a crowd of people and answer questions. Then the mother would take up a collection from the people who listened to the big answers piped so readily from the little lips.

One day a man who had been in the theatrical business for years happened to stand on a street corner in one of the little towns near Mount Vernon and to hear the child answering the questions. "Here's a find," said the theatrical man, whose name is Cook in the language that theatrical men use, and he made a contract by which little Gertie was to travel with him all over the country and show to big audiences her remarkable memory. Ever since last Christmas the child has been on the stage, answering all kind of questions that mean nothing to her except that she has been told some words to say when certain words are said to her. The everyday events of life remain as steadfast in her memory as the statistics and the names she repeats when before an audience. She has been on the stage for seven months and can tell every theater in which she appeared, and the name of every man and woman she met at each one of the theaters.—San Francisco Chronicle.

A Boy General.

Among the numerous titles borne by the 8-year-old monarch of Spain, which comprises by the by, the shadowy dignity of king of Jerusalem, is that of major general, and his most Catholic majesty has a military uniform adorned with the gold lace and insignia of that rank, which he is very fond of wearing. His youth and diminutive stature are, however, calculated to debar him for some time to come from following the example of his brother sovereign, Emperor William, who spends the major part of his existence in drilling and reviewing the various regiments of his army. Nevertheless to foster and develop that taste for soldiering which seems inborn in every child, no matter whether of royal, noble or plebeian birth, the Spaniards have now provided their young ruler with a costly toy in the shape of a complete regiment of infantry—of infantry in more senses than one, for there is not a soldier in its ranks nor an officer whose age exceeds 9, while most of them are between 6 and 8 years old. They are 600 in number and are recruited from every class of society at San Sebastian, from the sons of General Polaveja, the governor of the province, down to the children of day laborers and of the stevedores of the port.

IS THIS POSSIBLE?

Are the Advanced Women Agitated Merely Because They Are Not Beautiful?

Six wood cuts of advanced women recently published by a newspaper are calculated to suggest to the beholder several thoughts of a painful nature. Making all allowance for the well known shortcomings of the woodcut—recalling indeed more finished portraits—these she-males are homelier than inartistic sin or unlearned virtue. Flashing a dark lantern into the cave and subterranean passages of memory, where such objects are packed away—especially at night after a late dinner—not one face favored by heaven out of the whole pack of advanced women smiles into view. Some there are that in youth may have been prepossessing, but there is no record that at that remote period they were advanced. Of the younger recruits there is not one that a man would turn his neck to look at—not one, not one. And we all know that there are men that will walk backward to stare at any woman decently good looking.

Now, the question naturally arises, Would these same women be advanced if they were possessed of that divine prerogative of their sex—beauty? If they were even round and rosy and pretty? It is all very well to talk about the commanding strength of heredity and curtailed power of the environment, but just transform an ugly woman into a pretty one, and she will leap from pessimism to optimism like a torrent of water that has been unnaturally dammed.

For men make this world a very pleasant place for pretty women even for those who do not take undue liberties with the decalogue. Most women with beauty marry young and are quite content to let some one else fight the battle of life for them. If they make a mistake, they quietly divorce the deficient party in the contract, and, with ripened judgment, marry again. Those who don't marry and are forced to earn their own living find the way much easier if they please the eye of man, and naturally they take an optimistic view of life.

I am not prepared to deny that they meet many bold, bad men in the financial arena, but a keen witted girl can manage any man, and such trials are not to be mentioned in the same hour with the dreary, hopeless, mud footed, backbone wilted tramp of the homely woman. The latter will "get there," of course, if she has brains and persistence, but no success can compensate for that bleak and mortifying retrospect. No wonder she curses unympathetic man even from the platform and in the polemical novel. She would be justified in cursing the whole scheme of creation. Many of the prominent advanced have had a decent enough time of it financially. But just as surely as their viewpoint is stunted and warped they are plain, and man has not made their desert blossom like the rose. The world is all wrong to them, and they would make it right by shouting denunciation of man as he is spoke, not reflecting that shouting ruins the inflections of the voice and distempers thoughts turn the complexion green and life blue.

The odd part of it is that these women when they write their novels invariably make their propagandist heroines beautiful. Bewitchingly, seductively, stormily, regally or circumspectly beautiful are these young women of paper who would resolve man into his elements and remake him after a pattern which would immediately bring the human race to an end. These writers paint women that physically represent all they themselves yearn to be, never reflecting that those pretty heads would not harbor their own distorted and indigo views of life five minutes. In the hands of a man author those same heroines would make the pages hum.

But these wood cuts suggest another alarming question. Is beauty on the decline? For the ranks of the advanced are now many and many thousands strong. The suffrage movement, the temperance movement, the anti-imperial movement, the anti-general movement, all of which may be grouped under the general head of womanism, are filling space like a mighty flock of crows and hiding the light of the stars. Of course their children—if they condescend to have any—will be hideous, and the ultimate prospect is awful, for nothing that the human brain can evolve can ever take the place of beauty, whether it be beauty of face, of art or of a mountain under a purple mist. And as these women are as absolutely without the sense of beauty as they are without proportion and humor the natural result will be, if they multiply and overrun the earth, that beauty and the perception of it will disappear.

If nature manages to survive, she will be partitioned off into the tract arable and the tract unarable and can change her foliage to cinnamon pink if she lists, while, as for art, it will disappear altogether. The only hope this planet has is that man will respectfully but firmly decline to marry the advanced woman, in which case the evil will be confined to the present generation. But there are as many feeble souled males in this world as there are distempered females, and the danger lies in their trembling admiration for and final absorption by the amazons of this immemorial quarter, in which case let us all thank our several fates that although we may be in at the death we will be spared the contemplation of a misbegotten posterity.—Gertrude Atherton in New York Sun.

Joined the Salvation Army.

Miss Lamson and Miss Judson, two society young women of Cleveland, recently astonished their friends by joining the Salvation Army. They have been living in barracks in Cleveland and will now receive final instructions from General Booth. Both of the young women gave up homes of luxury. Miss Lamson's father is judge of the court of common pleas, and Miss Judson's family is quite wealthy.

NO DOUBLE-TAXATION.

Brand New Organization Formed with a Strong Platform.

It May Be a Very Important Factor in State Politics.

Board of Directors Comprising Many of Our Most Distinguished Citizens.

This week has seen the birth of a brand new organization which is likely to form a very important factor in the general political situation in Massachusetts.

The Massachusetts Anti-Double-Taxation league is the natural outgrowth of the efforts made for several years by many public-spirited gentlemen to redeem Massachusetts from the stigma of having the most liberal system of taxation of any state in the Union. These gentlemen presented to the legislature of 1894 one of the most remarkable petitions ever made. It contained the signatures of nearly 10,000 people; the unanimous requests of the 22 great trade organizations constituting the Boston Associated Board of Trade; the unanimous vote of 57 similar organizations which make up the Massachusetts State Board of Trade, and the unanimous vote of the City Council of Boston. This petition was supported by vigorous addresses by distinguished citizens, nevertheless it was treated by the legislative committee with scant courtesy. These many petitioners were given leave to withdraw, and their principal bill was rejected by a considerable majority.

The League now formed is a very strong one; its membership consists of actively interested people throughout the commonwealth. Among its directors are found the strongest representative men of large affairs, and its platform of principles is so simple and straightforward as to commend itself at once to every thoughtful citizen.

Declaration of Principles.
DOUBLE TAXATION is essentially unjust and injurious to the best interests of the commonwealth. The object of the league is the abolition of double taxation, whether this taxation falls upon

Property protected elsewhere and already taxed, or upon

Both borrower and lender in respect of the same property, or upon

Income derived from property already taxed.

Also the abolition of the taxation of obligations of the state or municipalities of Massachusetts, of which the interest is already a product of taxation, and the principal must be raised by taxation.

We, therefore, mutually associate ourselves for the purpose of urging upon our fellow citizens, and especially upon the legislature, such amendments in the laws as will correct the system in these particulars; and also strenuously to oppose any of those changes in the laws, now advocated, which would tend to aggravate the evils of DOUBLE TAXATION.

No one can deny that double taxation is unjust. No one will dispute that all really tangible property outside of Massachusetts is protected and taxed where it is. The attempt, so to tax again here the paper representatives of such property is a miserable failure, as all attempts to work injustice will always be. To tax a merchant's stock in trade for all of which he owes, besides taxing his capital, is an outrage; to tax income derived from property already taxed is contrary to the spirit of the law, and the effort is now to be made to so amend the letter of the law as to abolish this injustice. The taxation of municipal bonds can only result in added burdens upon all taxpayers. The League has pledged itself to work for the abolition of all these injustices, also to oppose every effort to add to taxpayers' burdens.

Officials of the League.

The president of the League is Mr. Alex. S. Porter, the largest dealer in real estate in Massachusetts. The general counsel is Mr. Richard H. Dana of Cambridge, and the treasurer is Mr. Horatio G. Curtis, the president of the Old Boston National bank. The secretary is Mr. Joseph E. Woods.

The list of directors includes Hon. George G. Crocker, Hon. H. Curtis, Esq., Charles E. Coting, Esq., Hon. Jonathan A. Lane, Hon. Nathan Matthews, Jr., Col. Thomas L. Livermore, W. H. Sayward, Esq., of Boston; Charles E. Adams, Esq., of Lowell; Philip A. Chase, Esq., of Lynn; Joseph Shattuck, Esq., of Lawrence; Hon. W. W. Cropp, of New Bedford; Robert Luce, Esq., of Somerville; Hon. William Whiting, of Holyoke; Hon. Charles A. Campbell, of Chelsea; R. Stuart Chase, Esq., of Haverhill; Hon. J. J. Whipple, of Brockton; Hon. J. B. Lee, Hon. Alden Spaulding, J. Howard Nichols, Esq., of Newton; Hon. E. S. Converse, of Malden; Hon. Rodney Wallace, of Fitchburg; Charles F. Adams, 3d, of Quincy; Edward S. Mosely, Esq., of Newburyport; Hon. John Cummings, of Woburn; Dana I. McIntire, Esq., of Medford; Hon. A. H. Evans, of Everett; Edward C. Perkins, of Milton; Hon. C. F. Adams, of Lincoln; Hon. Alanson W. Beard, of Belmont; Hon. Lee, Esq., of Hingham; Hon. Edward Atkinson, James Otis Porter, Esq., of Brookline; Albert S. Bigelow, Esq., of Cohasset; S. M. Weld, Esq., of Dedham; T. J. Coolidge, Jr., Esq., of Manchester; Sylvester Cunningham, Esq., of Gloucester.

This institution starts out in a thorough, businesslike way to accomplish its objects, and will certainly succeed, sooner or later.

A Household Treasure.

D. W. Fuller, of Canjoharie, N. Only the Scars Remain.

"Among the many testimonials which I see in regard to certain medicines performing cures, cleansing the blood, etc.," writes HENRY HUDSON, of the James Smith

Woolen Machinery Co., Philadelphia, Pa., "none impress me more than my own case. Twenty years ago, at the age of 18 years, I had swellings come on my legs, which broke and became running sores. Our family physician could do me no good, and it was feared that the bones would be affected. At last, my good old mother urged me to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I took three bottles, the sores healed, and I have not been troubled since. Only the scars remain, and the memory of the past, to remind me of the good Ayer's Sarsaparilla has done me. I now weigh two hundred and twenty pounds, and am in the best of health. I have been on the road for the past twelve years, have noticed Ayer's Sarsaparilla advertised in all parts of the United States, and always take pleasure in telling what good it did for me."

Progress

Stated Briefly:

The Negro, for centuries in a "Slave Pen;" then the Abolitionist's Pen; then Emancipation.

All mankind "slaves" for 3000 years to dipping pens-in ink (and dirty ink-stands); attempts at relief—cheap fountain pens; to-day, the realization, emancipation, a reliable substitute for the old pens—WATERMAN'S IDEAL FOUNTAIN PEN, the old-fashioned pen itself, (with the customary effective capillary action between its split nibs); and a split under "feed" (or conductor), drawing ink from fountain holder to pen point with absolute reliability.

N. B.—Be sure you get WATERMAN'S FOUNTAIN PEN, with the hidden splits in its under feed. Simple and Attractive,—not a doubtful contrivance.

The last meeting of the Board of Assessors, prior to the state election, will be at the Selectmen's office Saturday, Oct. 27, between the hours of 12 o'clock M. and 10 o'clock P. M.

Mr. Henry Gould has accepted a clerkship in the market of Mr. Peter Reeves, Lawrence. Mr. Reeves reports business as increasing, and he will be pleased to supply the orders of all town customers.

The game of cricket at Lowell Saturday between the Massachusetts team and the English team attracted quite a number from the surrounding country. Mr. Robert Duncan of town was among those who were present at the game.

At the democratic convention in Boston Monday, Mr. J. P. S. Mahoney was a member of the committee to select and present a list of names for the candidacy for Governor and Lieutenant Governor.

Rev. M. B. Pratt assisted in the dedicatory exercises at the First Methodist of Newton Highlands, Wednesday. A number of prominent divines took prominent parts on the occasion, Bishop Newman of Omaha, Dr. J. W. Hamilton of Boston, Dr. William Rice of Harvard and Rev. E. H. Hughes.

Although the financial result of the entertainment given Friday evening for the benefit of the Johnson High School was not as large on the profit side as was expected, yet the Phila. May Concert Company presented a program of standard merit, and the artists who the audience was pleased to welcome to North Andover for a second time, acquitted themselves very creditably, the selections offered being appreciatively received.

The Music Committee of the First Methodist church of this town have made arrangements for a singing class to be held in the vestry of the church, Wednesday evenings, beginning next Wednesday at 7.30 o'clock. The class will be under the leadership of Mr. Edward Buterworth. All singers, young and old, are invited to attend. There will be a course of fifteen lessons. Arrangements may be made with Mrs. R. W. Mr. Daniel A. Carleton narrowly escaped losing the sight of one eye by being hooked by a cow last Monday.

Already there is a marked increase in the attendance at all the services in the Methodist Church, a fact which must be very gratifying to the pastor, Rev. M. B. Pratt.

Mr. S. H. Furber has some of the largest apples of the Hubbardson variety we have seen, several of them weighing almost a pound each.

Wauwinet Lodge, I.O.O.F., receives the Grand Instructor.

Many Odd Fellows gathered in their lodge room Wednesday to witness the exemplification of the first three degrees of the unwritten work of Oddfellowship, by Grand Instructor Joseph York of Wollaston. The lodge worked the initiatory degree, after which the Grand Instructor occupied the time until ten o'clock in giving an interesting discourse upon recent changes in the work.

Following the lesson of instruction, all were seated around the festal board and partook of a turkey supper, most carefully and attractively spread. Having done justice to the ample provision in the banquet hall, cigars were passed, and the company returned to the lodge room for social conversation.

Visitors were present from Lawrence and Methuen. Among others was D. D. G. M. Robert B. Hill. The planning of the affair, which was considered perfect in every detail, was due to the committee in charge: George L. Harris, Past Grand, Dr. F. E. Weil, Noble Grand, and Chas. H. Robinson, Vice-grand. About 100 guests were present.

Select Party.

Grace and beauty adorned Stevens Hall last evening in a marked degree, and with mirth and music assisted in rendering the evening party given by Mrs. John H. Sutton to her friends, a delightful social success. In point of decoration the hall never presented an equally attractive appearance. Under the direction of Beals of Boston, a glory of flags and tri-color beautified the interior of the hall while palms and ferns in profusion made a tasteful setting for the stage. The Salem Cadet Orchestra, 11 pieces, discoursed perfect music for dancing. The national colors completely transformed the interior of the banquet room into an attractive bower, which was in charge of C. B. Hopson, head-waiter of the Algonquin Club, Boston, who served a royal feast to the guests.

Election Officers.

The following election officers have been appointed by the Selectmen:

Precinct one—Warden, William Halliday, Jr.; deputy warden, A. W. Badger; clerk, F. E. Weil; deputy clerk, A. P. Chickering; inspectors, Martin H. Palsifer, H. C. Osgood, Jacob W. Morse; deputy inspectors, David W. Walworth, W. R. Johnson, John Smith. Precinct two—Warden, Milton S. Jenkins, Esq.; deputy warden, Charles H. Farnham; clerk, Amos D. Carleton; deputy, Edward A. Fuller; inspectors, Peter Holt, Jr., F. Orris Rea; deputy inspectors, Benjamin W. Farnham, Winfield S. Hughes.

On petition of representatives of the People's Party to be allowed representation at the polls, Messrs. J. W. Morse and John Smith were appointed as inspector and deputy inspector respectively.

Democratic Caucus.

Tuesday the democrats assembled in Stevens Hall to choose delegates to the county, senatorial and representative conventions and to choose a town committee. Chairman A. L. Fernandes of the town committee called the meeting to order and was chosen to preside over the caucus. John F. Bannon was chosen secretary. A list of names as candidates was presented for the various offices by the following committee: C. J. H. Shedd, George H. Perkins, John A. Morrissey.

The names accepted: County—Harry W. Clark, John F. Bannon, W. F. Kelly, John Clark. Senatorial—Samuel D. Stevens, J. P. S. Mahoney, Esq., George H. Perkins, Michael E. Bolton.

Representative—Peter Holt, Jr., A. L. Fernandes, C. J. H. Shedd, John A. Morrissey.

Town committee—S. D. Stevens, Michael E. Bolton, Harry W. Clark, A. L. Fernandes, John Morrissey.

Wedding.

The wedding of Mr. Mosher Bradley Meserve, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Meserve of this town, and Miss Elizabeth Mabel Diman, occurred at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Diman, 62 Bailey Street, South Lawrence, last evening at 7 o'clock. Rev. E. P. Tuller of the Second Baptist Church performed the ceremony; Miss Susan Diman was the bridesmaid and Mr. William Philbrick was groomsmen. The costume of the bride was of white faille silk, with train, and adorned with ribbons. She also wore a tulle veil and carried brides' roses.

After a brief wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Meserve will reside in this town, on Andover Street. Many rare gifts were bestowed upon the bride. Among the people present from town were: Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Farnham, Mr. and Mrs. Williams, and Miss Mary Williams.

A HARD TASKMISTRESS.

The Late Folsom Vokes Took Her Art Rather Too Seriously.

The late Mrs. Clay, better known as Rosina Vokes, was a hard taskmistress. She took her art both seriously and rigidly and demanded the same from others. A young American girl during a one time connection with the Vokes company suffered extremely from a felon on her finger. Every movement of the arm gave her pain, and she was a length obliged to evade her required participation in "A Game of Cards," where the players clap hands, the one against the other. "You shirked your part last night, Miss Blank," Mrs. Clay took occasion to observe the following morning.

"I did," acknowledged Miss Blank, "for my finger is in such a condition, as you see, that present use of it is impossible."

"You will not shirk your part tonight, however," remarked Mrs. Clay, with an ominous gleam in her eye. The young American knew only too well that further remonstrance would probably result in her dismissal, so nothing more was said. That night, according to orders, she, with infinite pain, clasped hands briskly. At the first touch the blood gushed from her suffering finger; but, although her partner was Mrs. Clay, neither reference nor apology was made by that exacting star either then or afterward. "Still it was splendid training," said the young actress in later years. But to impartial, unprofessional outsiders such "training" smacks of tyranny.—New York Advertiser.
